Money Trees:

Money Trees Policy:

We take great pride in our unique origami trees made out of real money. Unfortunately, we've had some customers try to pull a fast one on us by using stolen credit cards or requesting chargebacks after receiving their tree. We want to make it clear that once you purchase a money tree from us, it's like a real tree - you can't just pluck the leaves off and expect to keep the whole thing.

To ensure that your money tree order is not flagged as fraudulent or made with a stolen credit card, we kindly ask that you follow these guidelines:

Use your own credit card: Please only use your own credit card to purchase a money tree. Using someone else's card, even with their permission, can trigger fraud alerts and cause delays or cancellations in your order.

Verify your billing and shipping address: In some cases we will need you to upload a copy of your ID.

Please ensure that the billing and shipping addresses you provide match the address on file with your credit card company. If there is a mismatch, it can trigger fraud alerts and delay your order.

Use a secure internet connection: Please only order money trees using a secure internet connection to avoid any potential for interception of your personal or financial information.

Double-check your order details: Before placing your order, please double-check all the details, including the quantity, price, and shipping information, to ensure there are no errors or discrepancies that could flag your order as suspicious.

If we need to verify your identity or payment information before processing your order, please respond promptly to our verification requests to avoid delays or cancellations in your order.

Please understand that due to the nature of our product, we won't be able to accept any returns or refunds on our money trees. So please, no monkey business. Thank you for your understanding and happy shopping!"
